

One Day Workshop: Wednesday 14th September 2016

“Disappeared but not forgotten: the Chilean experience regarding the search, recovery and identification of victims of human rights violations occurred during Pinochet’s Dictatorship (1973-1990)”.

We are delighted to welcome representatives from the Servicio Médico Legal of the Government of the Republic of Chile to present two sessions on their work.

The first session will be more general and open to a wider audience. It will take a more historical approach, trying to give the audience members a comprehensive picture about what happened in Chile, how the Chilean state has faced the issue of the disappeared and its debt to their families since 1990 until today.

The second session will be aimed at those practicing in forensic archaeology and anthropology. The session will be a more in depth examination of the forensic techniques that are used at the Servicio Médico Legal in Chile at the present and the lessons that have been gained through their application including both from a technical and also a transitional justice viewpoint.

This workshop has been made possible through funding from the Newton-Picarte fund through the University of Ulster.

Presentation team:

Joyce Stockins Ramirez

Forensic Archaeologist, Unidad Especial de Identificación Forense, Servicio Médico Legal, Santiago, Chile.

Prof. Cath Collins

Professor of Transitional Justice, Transitional Justice Institute, Ulster University, Northern Ireland. Director of the Transitional Justice Observatory and Research Associate, Universidad Diego Portales, Santiago, Chile.

Lorena Alejandra Alborno Garrido

Legal Advisor, Unidad Especial de Identificación Forense, Servicio Médico Legal, Santiago, Chile. Researcher. Centro de Documentación Indígena, Universidad Academia de Humanismo Cristiano, Santiago, Chile.

Macarena Arias Aravena

Physical Anthropologist, Unidad Especial de Identificación Forense, Servicio Médico Legal, Santiago, Chile.

Timetable:

11:00 – 13:00	Session 1	(Room F21)
13:00 – 14:00	Lunch Break An optional tour of forensic facilities at the University of Bradford will be offered during the lunch break.
14:00 -16:00	Session 2	(Room F21)

Booking your place

This event is provided free to members of the Forensic Archaeology Special Interest Group, however numbers are limited by the venue and to manage numbers you will need to pre-book your place at the workshop.

To book your place at this event please email R.C.Janaway@Bradford.ac.uk (including "Chile Workshop" in the subject line) by the 11th September.

In order to make this event free, lunch is not being provided, however, there are venues both within the Richmond building and nearby where you can buy lunch and refreshments if needed.

Venue:

The workshop will be held in Room F21 of the Richmond Building on the main city campus of the University of Bradford.

The Address for the University is:

University of Bradford,
Richmond Road,
Bradford,
West Yorkshire.
BD7 1DP

Getting here:

The University of Bradford is located in the center of the city of Bradford.
For details on how to get to here see the University of Bradford's website at:

www.bradford.ac.uk/contact-and-find-us/

Please note parking is very limited on the city campus. Details of alternative parking are available from the University website (above).