

Specialist competence matrix – to support applicants who work in information management
PLEASE NOTE: All applications will be assessed against the main competence matrix (P6 Applicant’s Guide) with the specialist matrix as an advisory document only.

	Knowledge	Autonomy	Coping with complexity	Perception of professional context
Practitioner (PCIFA)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Basic IT literacy, covering use of office applications, web browser and other communication applications. • Familiarity with the different data file types in common use, and use them appropriately • Has used one or more specialist archaeological information systems (database, GIS, image database, instrument data). • Aware of and can identify relevant policies and standards (organisation or sector-wide). • Shows knowledge of how to keep up to date with changing technology. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Compiles records from existing sources (e.g. data entry from paper forms) or primary sources (e.g. completing context record sheets). • Capable of running queries that feed into a report. • Capable of following provided standards and methodologies 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Can identify potential errors and omissions in records, demonstrating an appreciation for accuracy and clarity. • Appreciates the need to check ambiguity or lack of detail in requests for information. • Appreciates the importance of standardisation 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Appreciates the need for records to be saved securely. • Shows understanding of the end-use of recorded information for archaeological work e.g. for post excavation analysis, or to inform planning advice. • Aware of existing peer networks for archaeological information management and IT, and can apply with supervision • Awareness of digital archiving best practice and resources • Understands importance of documentation • Appreciates the need for quality assurance tasks • Demonstrates understanding of the ethical requirements of the Code of conduct and is able to apply to own work. Upholds the values of the Institute to work in the public interest.

	Knowledge	Autonomy	Coping with complexity	Perception of professional context
Associate (ACIfA)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Makes regular use of either a wide range of relevant information resources, or in depth use of specialist information resources. • Anticipates effect of changing technology and can comment on and demonstrate potential challenges / opportunities. • Knowledge of how to contribute to the development of appropriate policies and standards. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Creates records from a variety of primary sources (on-site, in the laboratory, from primary archive etc). • Able to rework existing records • Able to supervise others creating records. • Able to apply organisation or sector-wide standards 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Management of complex projects and able to deal with arising issues (e.g. Integration of a database with a GIS). • Aware of procedures for preparing & depositing data archives. • Confident working with data created by others for different purposes. • Can correct and update legacy data. • Able to run non-routine operations such as export or import of data. • Has deposited data archive to appropriate standards 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Understanding of the need for integration of information from multiple digital and physical archives. • Aware of procedures for disaster recovery or preventing data loss. • Aware of information security policies • Aware of licensing issues as they affect digital data. • Seeks advice from peer networks and makes routine use of them. • Understands the ethical requirements of the Code of conduct and uses them to guide and review own practice and, where applicable, that of others. Can recognise and resolve potential conflicts of interest within an established framework. Upholds and promotes the values of the Institute to work in the public interest.

	Knowledge	Autonomy	Coping with complexity	Perception of professional context
Member (MCIFA)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Able to lead on the set up of new information resources, compliant with relevant standards, for use by multiple users. • Able to effectively make best use of changes in technology. • Has developed appropriate policies and documentation for information resources, e.g. standards, instruction manuals, help systems etc. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Has individual responsibility for dissemination, deposit and archive of records created by own work. • Has responsibility for budgets; able to produce costings for developing digital resources. • Has overall responsibility for dissemination, deposit and archive of records created and maintained by others. • Oversees digital work carried out by others and ensures completion of all stages for the process. • Encourages and supports others in the use of digital resources. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Has an overview of multiple information sources e.g. undertaking information auditing. • Has worked with archaeological specialist users to identify requirement for information systems developed by IT staff/contractors. • Can obtain resources for information management activities. • Has managed the deposition of an archive to appropriate standards. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Understands the broader context of archaeological information resources e.g. in relation to other cultural institutions, other land-use or planning contexts, legal or licensing frameworks. • Aware of and has made use of peer networks from other information management specialisms. • Demonstrates professional judgement and ethical behaviour across a wide variety of complex situations, supporting and encouraging others to do the same. Can anticipate, recognise, and resolve potential conflicts of interest. Promotes the values of the Institute to work in the public interest with colleagues, clients, and stakeholders.